THE POST-DEMOCRAT

MUNCIE, INDIANA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1941.

PRICE: FIVE CENTS

Report Milk Dealers To Increase Retail Prices

Proposition of a New Grade A Milk Ordinance Would Be Opposed Only By Dealers Who Are Ready to Blame a Proposed Stepup On the New Law, If and When, It Is Passed By the Muncie Council.

The Grade A Milk ordinance, which is due to arouse much controversy, was presented to the council last Monday night. It was immediately referred to a committee. The ordinance as presented would provide for the strict regulation of the sale of milk, the production, processing, handling, examination, transportation, the inspection of all dairy herds, and milk plants. The ordinance also provides for penalties for infraction of the provisions of the ordinance. Most of the dairymen are vigorously fighting the passage of such an ordinance while the general public seems to be very much in favor of it. The only objection that comes from the consumer is the possibility of a raise in the price of milk.

It is said local dairymen held a meeting recently and agreed to raise the price of milk, but decided to wait until action had been taken on the milk ordinance so that in case it passed, the raise in price could be blamed upon passage of the ordinance. Muncie undoubtedly will have a raise in price of milk whether this ordinance passes or not.

The last legislature passed a milk control act which provides for the establishing of a Milk Control Board. By this act, distributors would be required to have licenses, and the state board would have jurisdiction of the licensing and even have the authority to fix prices for all dairy products within the state. Under this act the milk control board comes under the jurisdiction of the division of agriculture. The commissioner of agriculture shall be a member and chairman of the board by virtue of his position as commissioner. The Governor appoints the six other members that go to make up this board.

The act provides that the milk control board shall have the supervision and regulation of the entire milk industry in the state. In part it reads: "1. The general power hereby conferred upon the board extends to the supervision and regulation of the production, processing, furnishing, distribution, classification, and sale of the entire product of dairy animals in this state, to the extent that the same is produced for sale or is available in the form of milk as defined by this act."

(2) To investigate all matters pertaining to the production, transportation, storage, distribution and sale of milk in this state.

(3) To have access at all reasonable hours to enter any place where milk is being produced, processed, stored, bottled or sold.

(4) To act as mediator in any controversy or issue that may arise among or between producers and milk dealers.

(5) To determine and designate any area of the state as a natural marketing area for the sale of milk whenever such determination and designation may be necessary to establish definite boundaries for a market.

(6) To cooperate with health authorities of any city, county or the state concerning the enforcement of sanitary regulations in any marketing area.

This milk control act is a lengthy one and goes into detail as to the licensing of distributors and even makes state price control possible.

While this state milk control act seems to cover the ground pretty thoroughly as to the regulation of Indiana's dairy products, unless the various municipalities over the state cooperate and aid in the enforcement, the act itself will be of little benefit to the people of this state.

WOULD ERASE PARTY RECORD

Republican History In Assembly No Credit To State

Governor Henry F. Schricker has called for Democratic control of the General Assembly in 1942 that the despicable record of the Republican majority in the last session might be erased.

"The Republican record in Indiana is the most ridiculous and undemocratic of any legislature in the nation," the Governor stated. "Nothing is more important to Hoosierdom than the election of a Democratic legislature in 1942 to correct the wrongs committed and to write into law the Democratic platform of 1940."

Mr. Schricker has taken the lead. It is the duty of every citizen really interested in good honest constitutional government to follow him and to select strong candidates for state senator and state representative.

The Democratic party in every locality must place men and women on its ticket who have a realization of civic responsibility and are not bound by selfish or partisan interests.

Governor Schricker deserves the aid of a sympathetic legislature to help him carry the tremendous burden he has been shouldering alone since his inauguration. The people of Indiana must give him that legislature in 1942.

BURNING AT STAKE TOO REAL

Scranton, Pa.—David Martin, 11, was playing "cowboys and Indians" with six companions. They tied him to a tree and then burned him "at the stake" by setting fire to grass around the tree. David's screams attracted neighbors, but not before he suffered severe burns of the leg and hand.

A SHOW OF REAL STRENGTH

Even Democratic State Chairman Bays, who normally is of an optimistic turn of mind, was pleasantly surprised at the gigantic crowd that overflowed the Claypool hotel last week to welcome National Chairman Edward J. Flynn to Indiana.

The show of party strength so far in advance of the 1942 election was unprecedented. Hundreds were turned away from the dinner because of the lack of facilities to accommodate them.

Governor Schricker described the turnout as one of the most gratifying displays of confidence and assurance of support he has been since becoming chief executive of the state. He said it indicated that the Democratic party in Indiana is stronger than ever before and attributed the fine spirit displayed to the disgust at Republican bungling in the legislature and to the desire of all Hoosierdom to unite behind wise leaders in this time of crisis.

Chairman Bays ascribed the great interest shown to well organized and militant Democratic party that is wholeheartedly and earnestly in approval of Governor Schricker and President Roosevelt which is certain to bring victory to party candidates to the legislature next year and to Democratic candidates for state office and the regaining of Congressional seats in Washington.

DISPELLING THE FOG

BY CHARLES MICHELSON

By Charles Michelson

It is a cheerful truism of American politics that a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, however signal may have been his defeat, never abandons the hope that some day, somehow, he will realize his ambition.

Some time ago there was made public a cordial exchange of letters between ex-Governor Landon, of Kansas, and President Roosevelt.

The ex-Governor began his letter thus: "Dear Mr. President:

"A year ago at the Gridiron Dinner, in the spirit of the old American tradition that politics cease at the water's edge, I pledged you cooperation and support in the difficult foreign situation confronting your administration. * * *

"Therefore I want to renew my pledge, especially in view of the fact that so many members of Congress, of both parties, seem to have forgotten this basic principle of American politics and by their actions help create the impression on foreign nations that they do not trust your administration of foreign affairs. They would hamstring your conduct of an extremely delicate foreign situation."

To this the President responded with an equally cordial message beginning: "My dear Governor Landon:

"The generous spirit of your telegram helps me to meet the problems which confront our country in the field of foreign relations during these troublous times."

"The pledge which you gave at the Gridiron Dinner a year ago carried force because of the patriotic motive which prompted it. The renewal of that pledge not only strengthens the hand of the government but gives all of our citizens a good example."

Wendell Willkie, last year's Republican candidate, likewise came out with a declaration of fealty to and cooperation with the President's policies, and the country was delighted with these two evidences of the submergence of partisan politics and the indication of a nation's unity in the face of a national emergency.

Where Are the Views of Yester-Year?

However, another election is in the offing and beyond that looms another Presidential election. So the other day we had Governor Landon making a big speech in Kansas City, Missouri. He began his cooperation by complaining that the President's declaration that the intent of the lease-lend act was that we should deliver our aid to the anti-Nazi powers "shakes every moral and legal conception of representative government." And Governor Landon continued in this wise: "Over eight years of that sort of 'slick' leadership is destroying the confidence in political leaders essential to popular government. Over eight years of fooling the people, condoned at one time or another by different groups because of the ends, is planting the seed for the destruction of our republic. Such a policy was a major factor in the destruction of the Republic of France."

The ex-candidate said that he refused "to break ice" for the President; and he went on, "When a President or a Governor can persuade the minority party leaders to do that for him he is sabotaging the strength of that party in the next election." Here is another paragraph: "I will not run interference for him or cooperate in any sort of hoax, even to the extent of keeping still about it."

And along the same line: "Mr. Roosevelt tries to hide behind the bushes while letting Republican leaders break ground for him. This may be an effective way to attain his personal ambitions but is not the way to maintain the two-party system essential to our democratic processes. And it is not effective national leadership in either war or peace."

Preparedness for—Which?

He gave this formula, possibly to explain the divergence of the spirit of his telegram to President Roosevelt and his attitude today, which he expresses thus: "A robust, vigorous healthy Christian Republic requires that a people be able to cooperate politically. But it also requires constant prodding and criticism and real opposition by a minority party."

"This is no time," he added, "to be kindly and generous to a chief executive who has refused to tell industry or labor, or even the army and navy, what is or may be expected of them."

Most people recall that the President has told industry that the country expects the greatest production of wartime material that industry can compass; that he has told labor that it must subordinate its inter-organization feuds to the national needs; that after an American warship was attacked, he told the navy to shoot first; and he has been unceasing in his efforts to build our skeleton peace-time army into a modern and adequate force.

However, perhaps too much accuracy or consistency may not be expected from the gentleman who carried Maine and Vermont in one Presidential election. The purpose of our country is preparedness for defense. Mr. Landon's speech suggests that he is equally in favor of preparedness—for the Republican convention of 1944.

Hadden Is Credit To State Position

The appointment of Samuel C. Hadden as chairman of the State Highway Commission by Governor Schricker is one we join in applauding.

Sam Hadden was trained as an engineer, taught engineering in college, published engineering magazines and has been active in all types of engineering throughout his career. Since last January he has been a member of the Highway Commission and he has come to be regarded throughout the state by politicians and laymen alike, as an able and efficient public servant.

There is every reason to believe that in his quiet and effective manner, he will bring credit to a department which has often been the victim of whispering campaigns.

The chairman called attention to the importance of the independent vote in every election and explained the need for drawing those liberal thinking men and women into the Democratic party to give them a greater voice through organization and to aid the nation's leaders through a united effort to move forward.

Relief Work Is Being Carried On

Through more than 200 missions in all parts of China. In addition 274 hospitals are maintained by the missions, providing more than 75 per cent of all hospital beds available for civilians in China.

BASIC PRICE ASSURED

The government of Argentina has guaranteed its farmers a basic price for wheat 12 to 14 per cent above the international value.

Delinquent Taxes Will Add Greatly To Receipts

FLYNN PREDICTS ELECTION GAINS

Says Democrats Will Make Substantial Gains

Edward J. Flynn, national Democratic Chairman, addressing Indiana Democrats, predicted that the party would win back at least four more representatives in Congress in 1942 and has an excellent chance to recover two others.

He attributed the impending Democratic victory in the state next year to the "cracking" of the isolationist front under a barrage of the real truths concerning the acute danger now facing the country.

"The National Chairman denounced the America First leaders and Indiana's Republican congressmen who are putting party above country today. He called upon citizens of the state in every county and precinct to concentrate upon the 'repudiation of subtle propaganda intended to create disunity among our people and to elect members of the President's own party to the legislative branch of government.'"

Mr. Flynn asked that Democracy in the state unite behind its valiant leaders more closely than ever before to insure the defeat of every obstructionist who would rejoice in the failure of the wise foreign policies of the President and the all-out defense effort.

Chairman Flynn, in lambasting the activity of isolationist groups said: "Instead of an 'America First' organization, which promotes disunity and preaches false doctrines, we must have a great people's movement to place American purposes first, to see to it that no subtle propaganda and no organized group ever can destroy our kindred purposes. Sincere Americans who may have felt that an isolationist policy could guarantee our future security and freedom, now should realize that the continuance of this belief only breaks down the common purposes upon which our freedom, security and strength as a nation are founded."

He reminded his listeners that politics cannot be adjoined until such time as the Republican party goes on record as favoring those policies which safeguard national independence.

DELAWARE HAS SMALLER LIST

Benefit Payments Only One-Fourth That Of Year Ago

Unemployment compensation claimed by Delaware county workers amounted to $5,421.00 in September, compared with $20,855.00 in August, and $15,567.00 in September, 1940, the manager of the Muncie Employment Security office said today.

Payments of benefits in the state as a whole during September total $4,404,410, a reduction of 26.5 per cent from August and a decrease of 30.7 per cent from September, 1940. Colonel Everett L. Gardner, Division director, informed the local manager.

The sum disbursed during September pushed the amount of benefits paid out since the system was started in Indiana to almost 40,000,000. Colonel Gardner said. From April, 1938, when benefits first were paid, to October 1, 1941, $39,955,338 has been claimed by eligible unemployed workers. In all, 3,869,614 checks were issued. The average check for total unemployment was $11.55, and the average for partial unemployment was $5.66, Colonel Gardner said.

In this county, September benefits were awarded as follows: $207.00 to residents in the rural part; $92.00 to Eaton residents; $74.00 to Albany residents; $5,048.00 to Muncie residents.

BOY OFFERS $4.10, TO RECOVER LOST DOG

Bridgeport, Conn.—Little Danny Malone was willing to part with his life's savings of $4.10 to get back his dog, Jupe, missing a week.

He brought the contents of his penny bank to the Bridgeport Post to pay for printing a picture of Jupe, who, he said, "is just a puppy and he sits up." The Post told Danny to keep his money and put Jupe's picture on the front page.

The following day a boy brought Danny a basketful of Jupe. He'd found the dog in his yard and tried for days to locate the owner before he saw the picture.

"Gee, thanks," Danny managed to say. "I thought I'd never see him again."

Act of 1941 Legislature Requiring Payment of Both Personal and Poll Tax Before Being Granted An Automobile License Tag, Driver's Permit, Insurance Agent's Licenses, and Other State Permits Increase County Income.

With several days of mail receipts yet to open and add to the total collections of taxes during the fall installment collection period, the county treasurer's office reports to date receipts amounting to $901,064.53. The June settlement of taxes made from the spring collections amounted to $1,137,446.26. It is estimated that approximately $150,000 remains through mail receipts but not yet credited on the tax duplicates until payments have been put through the regular routine.

Due to numerous collections of delinquent personal taxes this fall it is anticipated that total receipts during the recent tax rush will be greater than usual. An act passed by the 1941 state legislature requiring paid-up tax receipts for both personal and poll taxes before granting a automobile license tag, driver's permit, insurance agent licenses, and other state permits has caused the payment of many hundreds of dollars in delinquent personal taxes.

Mail receipts of taxes were again increased at the treasurer's office due to the mailing of statements to real estate taxpayers prior to the last date of payment. This practice was started by County Treasurer Lester E. Holloway during the spring collections and continued this fall. The plan aids to eliminate congestion at the office for all taxpayers and serves as a convenience to those who desire to remit by mail as well as to those who come to the office for payment.

Further increased collections of delinquent taxes are expected during the next few months as the time nears for the procurement of auto licenses and driver's permits. The latter are due to secure by the first of the new year while license tags can be purchased within the law until March 1, 1942. License branch managers have agreed to enforce the new act to the letter and applicants must produce a paid-up-in-full tax receipt before such licenses will be issued.

It is the opinion of most taxpayers that such provision is as it should be and the payment of personal taxes which are the bulk of annual delinquencies, will increase revenue to taxing units for next year and later result in a reduction of tax levies on all taxable property, both real estate and personal. Formerly, it was only necessary by law to submit a paid poll tax receipts in order to secure auto license tags and other permits issued by the state. This provision kept up poll tax collections but failed to keep personal taxes paid-up.

The local county treasurer's office has been closed since last Monday, the last date for payment of taxes without attached penalties, and all aides are daily working on the mail which was received during the last few days of the tax rush. The office will again be opened for business with the public as soon as such records are completed which is expected within the next few days.

ATTACK FATAL TO PUBLISHER

Richard B. Emshwiller Dies At Alexandria On Thursday

Richard B. Emshwiller, publisher of the Alexandria Times Tribune, died early Thursday morning of a heart attack. Emshwiller was only 39 years old. He was a brilliant young man, and if he had been spared by death, he no doubt would have risen to the top in the newspaper field. "Abe," as he was familiarly known, had done newspaper work in Hartford City, where he was born and raised. He had also worked on the Muncie Star about fourteen years ago. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Emshwiller, of Hartford City. The father, who died several years ago, was a prominent attorney at Hartford City.

He is survived by his mother, widow, who was formerly Ruth Nigh, of Hartford City, two children, a daughter, Nancy and a son, James, two brothers, James Emshwiller, Hartford City attorney, and A. G. Emshwiller with the Press at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church in Alexandria at 2:00 Sunday. The service will be conducted by the Presbyterian minister there. The body will be laid to rest Sunday afternoon in the mausoleum at Elm Ridge cemetery here in Muncie, near the body of his father.

The Blue Lodge of Hartford City will be in charge of the final rites.

FISHERMEN TRAP SHARKS

Astoria, Ore.—Resourceful deep sea fishermen, inspired by the high prices paid for shark fins, spread gillnets in the ocean miles off shore to snare sharks at night when they rose to the surface to feed. Shark liver sold for $8.50 a pound during the season here.

THE ARMISTICE IS OVER

By Ruth Taylor

Those of us who remember Armistice Day 1918 recall not merely the wild excitement with which the news was greeted, but even more the deep sense of relief and the keen rapture at the thought of peace. We felt that not only this war but all wars were over.

But as the years have come and gone, we have celebrated Armistice Day more and more solemnly, in the belated realization that "Armistice" truly meant "the temporary cessation of hostilities."

We wanted peace and we sought it by compromise and equivocation. We overlooked the fact that there is—there can be—no truce in the fight between right and wrong.

Ours was the task of bearing high the torch of liberty. Of seeing that the light of freedom dispelled the darkness of oppression. We did not ask of those who died from whence they came or by what faith they lived. They were soldiers in a battle for Democracy. Ours was—still is—the tasks of keeping that Democracy alive so that their sacrifice might not have been in vain.

We have not yet fulfilled our task. And today the fight is on anew between the forces of oppression and aggression and the forces of democracy and freedom. We have a faith to keep with those who have gone before. Tolerance, justice, equality, freedom, democracy—are not just words. They were ideals for which men died—they are ideals by which we must live if the faith is to be kept.

The armistice is over and this time there must be no stopping before the final victory is won. We must finish the job. We must fight on to the bitter end—until the forces of evil are completely conquered for all time.

Kentucky Hills Echo With Names Of Chafer, Wafer, Yora, Wava, Etc.

Chicago—Fictional Indian names, such as Big Chief Mud-In-The-Neck and Squaw Skinny Legs, have nothing on some of the monickers that prevail in the Kentucky hill region near Mammoth Cave.

Among the workers in the Mammoth Cave National Park area or those living in surrounding territory, the blue ribbon goes to a man called Mill Rolling Strange, a resident of a community near Stockholm, Ky.

On the hotel employee list at the National Park is a Pocahontas and an Ophilius. On a tombstone is the given name of China, not to be confused with Asia, another resident.

Parents who wrack their brains and thumb through volumes of poetry to name their newly-born could find no more sibilant, tongue-rolling combinations than the poetry of the Kentuckians' names.

Acting Chief Ranger Fred Binnewies of Mammoth Cave Park finds a peculiar type of rhyming among the native names that is reminiscent of the "On Comet, Cupid, Doner and Blitzen" series from "The Night Before Christmas."

There are: Chafer and Wafer, Sampson and Stroy; Loma and Roma, Pernie and Coy; Onwel and Condle and Wannie and Nella and Goldie.

Also: Rany, Chole, Alcic, Cova, Mossie, Cleatus, Mavie, Dova, Delanie, Wyanda Ray, Claydean Clara Fay, Oryce, Ovis, Thula, Lonzo, Cordi, Onas, Yora and Ranzo.

For mention, too: Alsora, Billow, Chlorine, Cula, Rome, Joy Belle, Levada, Levadie, Clara, Musick, Shelley, Puella, Hallie, Delphine, Lula, Vanetta, Lama, Nelsie, Callie, Audra, Nalo, Neall, Loywen, Cloya, Lona, Ninabelle, Groman, Dock, Sedonia, Dearrel, Gliella, Odis, Burley, Vertis, Maevohe, Margolene, Wavie, Manie, Ewell, Wava and Cestrice.

PLANT MUSSELS IN STATE WATER

Buttons Are Part of Indiana's Commercial Resources

Planting of one and a third billion mussels or baby mussels in four Indiana streams where conditions are favorable for this species of aquatic life has been completed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in cooperation with the Department of Conservation. The plantings were made in sections of the Tippecanoe, Wabash and East and West Forks of White River.

These experiments are being conducted, Hugh A. Barnhart, director of the Department of Conservation, reported, as a means of maintaining mussels in the streams as a source of shells for the making of buttons and other commercial uses. Indiana has approximately a dozen of these button manufacturing plants while tons of shells are shipped out of the state each year to other plants.

In its early stages the mussel is a parasite, attaching itself to the sides of boats and other objects and later becoming detached to develop in the form familiar to all fishermen. The propagation experiments made in the four Indiana streams included the placing of the baby mussels on host fish which were then released in the selected parts of the different streams. The presence of these parasites does not harm the fish or affect the use of the fish as food.

The experiment is a cooperative one between the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Department of Conservation, to be continued over a period of three years. The sections of streams "planted" will be kept under observation by the technicians in charge of the experiment.

The mussel plantings were made in the Tippecanoe River near the Oakdale Dam, near Springboro and near Americus; in the Wabash River above the junction with the Tippecanoe, near Wabash, Rich Valley, Logansport, Lockport, Delphi and Americus; in the Wabash River below the junction with the Tippecanoe, near Battleground, Lafayette, Independence, Attica, Covington, Perryville, Cayuga, Newport, Clinton, Monticello, Vigo, York Ferry, Hutsongville, Russellville Ferry and Vincennes.

NIAGARA LOSES OLD RESCUE TUG

Buffalo, N. Y. — The tug International, rescue ship and familiar landmark on the Niagara river for more than a half century, soon will depart from its old haunts.

In disuse for the last two years and used only occasionally during the previous decade, the vessel will be employed as harbor tug at Toronto, Ont. It was sold to a Toronto company by Canadian National Railways.

During its "career," the International saved more than one person from crashing against the International Bridge at Black Rock. Marine men here recall that about 25 years ago the ferry Niagara Frontier was caught in an ice flow while trying to cross the Niagara river.

"Even with its engines at full speed, the ferry couldn't overcome the ice flow and was sweeping down toward the bridge," one of the crew recalled. "The International got out in front of her, broke up the ice and this permitted the ferry to go back up the river."

The iron-hulled International was stationed near the bridge more than 60 years ago, after enactment of a law calling for a tug to be on duty when boats passed through the bridge. In those days, suburban Tonawanda was one of the world's biggest lumber ports and sail boats, lumber barges and wooden steamers all plodded their way down the Niagara. Now virtually all boats go through the ship canal and the International no longer is useful.

Governor Issues His Proclamation For Armistice Day

Indianapolis, Nov. 7. — Governor Schrieker has issued an Armistice Day proclamation calling upon Indiana citizens to "remain a united people and put strife and discord aside to give complete support to our federal government in this emergency."

He asked all Hoosiers to observe two minutes of silence at 11 a. m. Nov. 11 in tribute to "those who offered and sacrificed their lives in defense of our country and those World War veterans who returned to us from the battlefields of France."

TOWNSEND HAS A SECRET PLAN

Pension Leader Will Announce Principles Next Week

Chicago—Intense excitement reigned at National Headquarters this week following a staff conference at which Dr. Francis E. Townsend discussed with department heads a new, secret plan for bringing pension sentiment to immediate white-hot throughout the nation. Dr. Townsend was unwilling to release the new campaign strategy at this time but stated:

"Next week the Townsend Movement will make the most important announcement of its history."

The Founder of the Townsend Movement had returned from a tour of New York State and went at once into conference with key members of his headquarters staff.

Dr. Townsend stated that the program of action which he will present next week will be breathing life into its scope and power. This new program will in no way interfere with the present program he added. It will be a totally new method that will be employed in addition to present activities.

Thousands upon thousands of Townsend members will be called upon to take an active part in this new program," declared the Founder.

"It is going to cause plenty of excitement in Washington, I can tell you. Our good friends on Capitol Hill will be delighted and our opponents, if we have opponents, will start looking for storm-shelters."

The progress of the Townsend Bill had been much to slow, said Dr. Townsend. He declared that he was pleased with the new Congressional support the Bill had received in the House this year but that, with public opinion so strongly in favor of Townsend principles, there was no reason for further delay.

Aids present effort. This present action will not affect the present method of presenting the Townsend Bill to Congress, urging hearings by the Ways and Means Committee, and asking Representatives to sign the Townsend Petition to release the Bill to the Floor of the House for debate. Rather it will supplement present effort.

"The old folks are not going to be lost in the defense shuffle," Dr. Townsend concluded, "and we are going to see to it that the government takes care of its Senior Citizens at the same time its arms itself for defense. There is no reason why it cannot do both."

U.S. Lends 2 Subs To British, Poland

Groton, Conn., Nov. 7.—The colors of two axis foes were hoisted aboard a pair of American submarines yesterday at a brief ceremony marking the first transfer of vessels of that type under the lend-lease act.

The undersea fighting craft their sleek hulls belying years of service in the American Navy, were turned over to the British and Polish navies at the United States submarine base on the Thames river.

The Only Framework That Will Hold It

Burned Girl, 4, Endures Pain, Keeps Smiling

Omaha, Neb.—"Little Nurse," a sweet, unaffected little girl, is in her fourth month in St. Joseph's hospital, with at least that much longer to stay.

She is Geraldine Christenson, 4, whose clothing caught on fire as she was standing around a bonfire. She was saved only by her mother who flung truck quilts around her body.

Day after day little Geraldine lay in pain while doctors succeeded in saving her life. Weights and pulleys were strung from the ceiling to her crib. Yet not once did she murmur or complain. On the contrary, "Little Nurse" smiled, never permitting the tenderness of her inflamed skin to provoke a tear.

Now, with her fight against death won and her period of convalescence beyond the halfway mark, Geraldine lives up to the title "Little Nurse," bestowed upon her by the doctors and nurses, by comforting her mates in the children's ward who are suffering and crying.

Her only diversion is her doll and a toy telephone over which she pictures herself talking to her "mamma and daddy."

TROUSERS TAKE LONG WAR TRIP

London—A New Zealand air force man traveled half way round the world to take up his post at an air field, in northern England. And when he was walking in a little town nearby he saw his own pair of trousers and a shirt he had seen last in New Zealand.

The New Zealander is Aircraftman Tom Bush.

When he reached the town near the air field in northern England, he asked a man which road he should take. The man told him. Bush thanked him. Then he stared. He stared hard at the man's shirt. And harder still at the pair of trousers he was wearing.

"Pardon me stranger," Bush said at last, "but that shirt and those pants look uncommonly like my own. I lent them to my brother Roy back in New Zealand in 1938 and I haven't seen them since."

Between them Bush and the stranger, Ernest Raskin, were able to piece out the story of the trousers and the shirt.

Bush lent the shirt and the pair of trousers to his brother. But Roy joined up, traveling to England to enlist.

When he reported for duty, he left his civilian clothes with a friend who stored them in his office.

Roy's friend, a business man, employed a small staff. One of its members was Raskin. Come the blitz, a bomb fell near the office and almost the only things left undamaged were Roy's—or Tom's—shirt and trousers.

YOUTH TO HELP IN STOCK SHOW

International Will Feature 4-H Club Projects

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Farm youth will take an important part in the programs of the forthcoming International Live Stock Exposition, November 29 to December 6 at the Chicago Stock Yards, when the 20th National 4-H Club Congress will be held in connection with this year's exposition.

It is anticipated that 1450 farm boys and girls from 45 states will take part, representing the top winners of the year in state-wide contests among 1,420,000 rural youths now active in 4-H work.

National Honors Awarded. They will visit Chicago on free all-expense trips to compete in contests that will determine whom among them will be the national champions of the current year in 4-H accomplishment. According to officials of the Congress, eleven national contests are planned this year.

Many of their exhibits and activities will be staged in the 4-H Club Building, a permanent headquarters for the Congress maintained at the Chicago Stock Yards adjacent to the International Amphitheatre where the live stock show will be held.

The winners will be introduced to Exposition visitors at the International Horse Show Monday evening, December 1. At this time, the entire Congress delegation and their leaders, numbering over 1600, will parade in the Horse Show arena.

Leading them will be a gigantic team of eight ton weight draft horses, featuring four matched pairs, each symbolic of the four old club standards: Head-Heart-Hands-Health. Highlighting the parade will be two 4-H bands, one from Douglas county, Nebraska, consisting of 60 members who have completed their fourth season of concert work; the other from Calumet county, Wisconsin, a band of about the same size that has been organized for ten years.

New Features Planned. New features of the 1941 Congress include a 4-H wool exhibit, consisting of fleeces produced in sheep and lamb projects; also, a Roy back in New Zealand in 1938 and I haven't seen them since."

Between them Bush and the stranger, Ernest Raskin, were able to piece out the story of the trousers and the shirt.

Bush lent the shirt and the pair of trousers to his brother. But Roy joined up, traveling to England to enlist.

STANDARD WILL CHANGE NAMES

Colored Crowns Will Designate Gasoline Brands

Chicago, November 7.—Plans to change the name of its premium gasoline to Standard White Crown and its third brand to Standard Blue Crown were announced today by Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The changes will be effective December 1. Present names are Solite with Ethyl for the premium and Standolind for the third brand.

By this move the midwest's largest oil company will establish a complete "Standard . . . Crown" family of motor gasoline, with the individual products identified by the colors, blue, red and white. The family group will include Standard Red Crown, the name of the regu on the highways of fourteen states, lar or house brand already known.

The new names correspond with the jewel globes on gasoline pumps from which the respective products are dispensed. The premium product, though called Solite, has been designated by a white crown globe on its pump. Similarly, Standolind has been marked by a blue crown globe.

"This change in brand names was the natural result of following the thinking of consumers," President Edward G. Seubert stated in announcing the change. "We have found that although customers would ask for Standard Red Crown they were likely to refer to 'white crown' or 'blue crown' rather than to the official product name when asking for the premium and third brands. We are now making it easy for them to use terms that will correspond to the symbols they see on the pumps—the red, white and blue crown globes."

The name Crown was associated with fuel for propelling "horseless carriages" and other modes of early transportation more than 40 years ago. Evidently the crown was selected as a symbol and word associated with quality and leadership. Later "Standard" and "Red" became part of the name. Advertising and display have made the Standard Red Crown globe one of the best known of commercial symbols. Today more than 50,000 white crowns, red crowns and blue crowns mark the pumps of wayside service stations and millions of motorists are familiar with them.

Standard has fought and won several notable court battles to protect its exclusive right to the Standard Red Crown name and trademark.

When premium gasoline was developed in the 20's, Standard first called it Solite. The name Red Crown with Ethyl was later adopted. In 1933 it was changed back to Solite with addition of "with Ethyl." From its beginning this product was symbolized by a white crown. Standolind was developed as a third brand to use in meeting cut-price competition in 1931. It was at first colored blue and a blue crown was selected as its trademark. For operating reasons the blue coloring of the gasoline was later abandoned by the blue stick as the symbol, and many purchasers continue to call it "blue."

The company is claiming no important changes in the products themselves in connection with the change in names. The premium gasoline, now to become Standard White Crown, was improved in octane rating early this year, and company officials claim that it meets the exacting requirements of high compression engines in the new automobiles. For Standard Red Crown the company will continue to claim quick-starting and fast warm-up qualities as well as long mileage and high anti-knock value. For Standard Blue Crown the claims will center on relatively low price for a satisfactory performance and long mileage.

BRITISH WOMEN WILL DO WORK

Attitude Of Soldiers Has Bearing On Services

London, Nov. 7. — Newspapers, trades unions and political circle have joined in demanding stronger measures and better enforcement of existing measures to put women to work either in factories or in auxiliary military services.

The Times demanded "stronger action" regarding women by Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and the Star said today that "Bevin should take what he wants, whether for auxiliary or factory services."

Indication of 13 women who, though registered at Labor exchanges for work, refused to accept assignments given them. About 3,000,000 women have registered at labor exchanges but in many quarters there have been complaints that many of them never got to work.

"Never before has the government demanded so much of women and never before has the government done so little about it," said Lady Astor in a recent speech which set the tone for criticism. Observers said many men in the fighting services believe their wives should not have to work and this was regarded as a factor in the problem.

It was believed that Parliament soon would be asked for stronger legislation to enable the Labor Ministry to put more women to work.

Slaughter of the Innocent

The slaughter of one hundred innocent Frenchmen in reprisal for the assassination of two German officers furnishes a measure of the sadist philosophy of the Nazi authorities.

The killing of hostages is a revival of barbarisms the world thought civilization had outgrown centuries ago. There was not the slightest pretense that the victims were in any way concerned in the slaying of the Reich officials. They were picked at random from all over occupied France. Moreover, another hundred was slated for massacre in the event of the failure to apprehend the unidentified gunmen who fled when their purpose was accomplished. As an act of grace the Nazis delayed the execution of the additional hundred for three days which was all the time allowed the French to find and surrender the assassins.

While it may be reasonably assumed that the killing of the two Germans was the act of super patriots made desperate by the tyranny of the conquerors, that is only an assumption. Not even the nationality of the fugitives is determined. Perhaps instead of being the expression of national hostility, it might have been done to avenge some personal and private wrong. It has even been known to happen that officers have been slain by their own men because of an individual service grouch. These are, of course, merely speculations but they are certainly as tenable as the theory of General Stuebelnagle, chief of the occupational forces who declared: "cowardly criminals paid by England and Moscow killed the field commandant of Nantes. *** In expiation of this crime I have ordered as preliminary measures that 50 hostages be shot. Considering the gravity of the crime, 50 other hostages will be shot if the guilty ones are not arrested by midnight of October 23."

This brutality, unmatched in any modern war, is only a sample of the system of Hitler's world conquest project. It is more blood-chilling possibly but is no more degenerate than the blasting of helpless ships in mid-ocean without warning or concern for men, women and children dumped into the sea, or the bombing of populous cities—which is another of the ghastly expedients introduced to the world by the Germans.

Yet there are those who speak of a negotiated peace with the monster responsible for these outrages on humanity. France negotiated and look what she got! Hitler announced his disavowal of hostile purposes against every nation that he thereafter overwhelmed. It is part of the Nazi strategy to forswear pledges and tear up treaties.

Russia negotiated with him, to her shame, for directly she found him battering her cities and making full fledged war on her. Incidentally, Stalin even when he was collaborating with Germany prepared for her treachery, and Hitler got the surprise of his Fuehrer life for Stalin had prepared, and at this writing the Germans are still outside of Moscow, and have lost one or more million men.

There is only one peace possible with Germany, and that is the wreck and destruction of the Hitler machine. It has to be demonstrated to that power-mad country that the Germans are not earth's supreme people, and that the world will never submit to such enslavement as the episode in France illustrates.

The peace that will be signed will be signed in Berlin—and Hitler will not be there.

November 11 Is Civilian Defense Week

President Roosevelt proclaimed the week beginning November 11, as Civilian Defense Week, a period in which all Americans should come to the aid of their country and consider their duties and responsibilities in the defense of their nation. The President called upon Governors of States, territories and possessions to issue similar proclamations.

In issuing the proclamation, the President said, he designated the period commencing on Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11, and continuing through Sunday, November 16, "as a time for all persons throughout the nation to give thought to their duties and responsibilities in the defense of this country and to become better informed of the many vital phases of the civilian defense program and of the opportunities which it offers for the participation of every individual American in the defense of our priceless heritage."

Each day in the week will symbolize one phase of defense.

On November 11, Armistice Day, each state and local council will emphasize the fact that the day is the symbol of the determination of the people of this country to preserve the ideals upon which the nation was founded, and join in the organization of Armistice Day celebrations.

Wednesday, November 12, will be "War Against Waste Day" and consumers will be told why vital strategic materials must be conserved, and warned against waste of any kind.

Thursday, November 13, will be "Sign Up for Defense Day." Its purpose will be to inform the public of the existence of Volunteer Offices or to stimulate their establishment and to explain the range of their activities. Individuals will be urged to enroll as volunteers as members in areas that might be attacked in case of war.

Friday, November 14, will be "Health and Welfare Day," emphasizing the importance of a strong, secure population as the foundation for a strong military defense and to promote the cause of physical well-being in times of national emergency.

Saturday, November 15, will be "Civilian Protection Day," in which emphasis will be placed upon the need for civilian protection, particularly in target areas and the need of civilian participation in community service activities, and to stimulate the desire on the part of the individual to volunteer units under the Civilian Defense Program.

Sunday, November 16, will be "Freedom Day," and clergymen of every denomination, as well as representatives of educational, civic, labor, industrial, veterans and fraternal organizations will participate in community service meetings Sunday evening. Its purpose will be to reaffirm our faith in the fundamental freedoms. Emphasis will be placed upon the inseparability of religious freedom and democracy.

The entire week will be marked by special radio and theatre programs, exhibits, forums and school and church programs.

AIR POWER IS MAKING GAINS

Spring Production May Reach 100,000 Units In U. S.

America's air-power goal is a moving objective.

Air defense of the United States is like a race in which the finish line keeps traveling faster than the racers.

Only a year ago the objective was 15,000 warplanes for our own Army and Navy air forces. By January, 1942, that objective had become 37,000 warplanes, to supply both Britain and American forces. By midsummer it had been raised to 44,000. Today the Government has an order, or about to be placed on order, around 65,000 planes. At ready U. S. and British officials are thinking in terms of 80,000 warplanes. By spring! It may be 100,000.

Since January 1, 1941, the production capacity has been doubled, and some time in 1942 it is expected to be doubled again. In the first eight months of 1941 America's aircraft industry produced 10,658 airplanes. It probably can deliver 8,000 more by the end of this year. Without any further increase in capacity this rate of output would produce some 22,000 planes in 1942.

Important new factories are coming into production, and assured output of plane will be greatly increased in the early months of 1942. It is not unreasonable to expect a total production of 35,000 planes during that year. Added to 1941 production, that would amount to well over 50,000 airplanes turned in 1942.

So far half, or more than half, of U. S. production has been of training planes. That proportion of trainers will decrease as production grows. But assuming that half still continue to be training planes during 1942, a total of 25,000 or more fighting-type planes will have been turned out by the end of that year. And behind them will be industrial capacity sufficient to replace every one of them every year.

Not even the most fantastic estimates place totalitarian air power beyond that figure—and many plausible opinions place it as low as half that figure. Once approximately equality in fighting planes in actual service is reached, Axis power will be beaten in the race for air supremacy—prize essential of war victory. For their peak production capacity can scarcely exceed half of U. S. production capacity alone, regardless of what may happen to British production.

At that point America may expect to be secure against invasion at home, and against defeat of American armies abroad—Walter Leckrone, Washington News (Ind.).

Central and North America are the sole habitats of turkeys.

LEADER KEEPS HIS AGREEMENT

Governor Schricker Has Kept His Campaign Pledge

The election of Charles Skillen of Winamac as full-time secretary to the Democratic state committee to work with the State Committee in handling all patronage matters is the fulfillment of Governor Schricker's statement soon after his election that he would not have a patronage secretary. All jobs and patronage will be distributed through the State Committee beginning November 1st.

Mr. Skillen, who has been personal director for the State Highway Department, will assume his new position immediately according to State Chairman Fred F. Bays, and will maintain an office at Democratic headquarters in the Claypool Hotel at Indianapolis.

The election of Mr. Skillen, Pulaski county Democratic Chairman, to the secretaryship followed the resignation after two years of service in the post by George D. Crittenberger, editor of the Anderson Daily Bulletin.

The retiring secretary has been a staunch Democratic worker and is a past president of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association.

He submitted his resignation because of his inability to devote full time to the state organization work.

Members of the State Committee are to be complimented on their judgment in the selection of his successor, who has an enviable record in State Government and political circles. He is well known throughout the state because of his activity and comes to his new office well-equipped to do an excellent job.

Previous to his work as a personnel director for the highway department, Mr. Skillen was assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, traveling auditor in the Bureau for four years, and an official in the Drivers' License Division of the Bureau for a year. He is a former commander of the American Legion post at Winamac.

INDIANA FARM BUREAU PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR CONVENTION AT INDIANAPOLIS NEXT WEEK

Indiana Farm Bureau Plans For Convention

An address by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be a high light of the twenty-third annual Indiana Farm Bureau convention, November 13, 14, and 15, in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis.

Mr. O'Neal, an Alabama cotton farmer, who for many years has been an outstanding national farm leader, will speak at the only evening session of the convention, Thursday, November 13.

The general session on Thursday morning will include addresses by Governor Henry F. Schricker and Farm Bureau President Hassil E. Schenck. Mrs. Lillie D. Scott, state director of the Social and Educational Department, will present a Memorial Service and the Montgomery County Male Chorus will sing. Larry Brandon, vice-president of the bureau, will preside at the meeting, and the Rev. Orville Paul Manker, Farm Bureau chaplain, will give the invocation. Announcements and committee appointments will be made at this session.

Farm Bureau Members Study

If national defense is to be strong and the nation well fed, farmers must plan accurately their farm operations for the coming years, states Hassil E. Schenck, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, Inc.

It is with this purpose in mind that Farm Bureau officials urge every farm leader within the state to attend the Indiana Farm Bureau convention November 13, 14, and 15 at Indianapolis.

"Farming is even more complicated than the armament program, since so many widespread factors make up the whole economy of agriculture," explained Mr. Schenck.

"Unless these various groups meet in conference and outline definite procedure for production, the nation may awaken in 1942 with extreme shortages in certain food items. This occurrence is not needed and is vigorously opposed. A thorough understanding between the groups of farmers regarding needs will banish this possibility of food shortages," he continued.

"Forty state Farm Bureau organizations will meet in annual conference during the next 60 days and from these groups will come the most united recommendation regarding coming food needs. Indiana farmers are called to the convention for the specific purpose of outlining 1942 policies," said Mr. Schenck.

Jordan-Butler Choir To Sing At Meeting

To meet the request by Indiana farm folk for good music, the services of the Jordan-Butler Philharmonic Choir have been acquired for the evening program of the annual Indiana Farm Bureau convention in Indianapolis, November 13, states C. L. Dyer, director of education for the bureau.

All of the forty-two members of the choir are accomplished musicians in their own right, and under the direction of Joseph Lautner, director, and assisted by Joseph Lewis, accompanist, this bids to be one of the outstanding musical fetes of the year, according to Mr. Dyer.

"For many years one of the projects carried out by the Social and Educational department of the bureau has been the development of choruses and quartettes. The project has been very successful and new that the 6,000 leaders who plan to attend the convention will have the opportunity to hear this outstanding group sing, there is reason to believe musical education will take on renewed life in farm groups," continued Mr. Dyer.

Farm Bureau choruses from Cass and Montgomery counties will sing during other sessions of the convention.

Nov. 20 Again Set For Thanksgiving

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt's annual Thanksgiving proclamation, expected in a week or so, will designate Thursday November 20, for this year's observance. But beginning in 1942, the President has stated the traditional fourth Thursday in November will be proclaimed by him.

The week-daylier observance adopted to bring about a longer shopping period between Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays, was found not to have produced anticipated results. The President, therefore, last May announced an end of the new custom adopted three years ago.
